ANNOUNCE SCHOLARSHIP RANKINGS

SEEK CHANGE IN DATE OF COLLEGE DAY

Interfraternity Council Proposal
For Definite Time Follows
Senate Recommendation

A proposal to set the Monday following freshman week as the date for All College day was advanced by the Interfraternity council at its meeting Wednesday evening. The proposal was the culmination of a discussion of the Student Senate's recommendation for making the Saturday of rushing week All College day.

The Council's counter plan will be referred back to the Student Senate and the faculty committee for discussion and probably final action.

The plan would necessitate the starting of rushing on Tuesday of the week following freshman week rather than on Monday. Open house among the fraternities would be held Tuesday, which is the day for upper class registration.

This, however, in the opinion of the Interfraternity council will not be as inconvenient as losing Saturday of that week for a rushing day.

Present Plan Unsatisfactory

Dissatisfaction with the present arrangement of All College day in the college schedule led to investigation by both the Student Senate and a faculty committee. The principal objection to having a college holiday on an indeterminate date in the second week of school is that it seriously interferes with study at the time.

The Student Senate recommended that the date be set for the Saturday of rushing week in order that all confusion and distraction of All College day be finished after the first week. The formal recommendation was made and referred to the Interfraternity council and Panhellenic board for approval.

The Panhellenic board and the Interfraternity council have both taken action on the recommendation. The Panhellenic board approved the recommendation but referred it to the individual sororities for sanction.

The Interfraternity council has refused to approve the plan and instead has offered its counter proposal, which will now be referred back to the Student Senate and the faculty committee for consideration.

With the Interfraternity council taking the action that it did in regard to the proposal for the change, it will be necessary that the Student Senate again take the plan under advisement before anything definite can be reached. The opinion and hope was expressed by senate members, however, that a definite agreement would be reached within the next month.

Recruiting Letters Sent to High School Seniors

Letters outlining the advantages and opportunities of Lawrence college are being sent to approximately 5,000 Wisconsin high school seniors who ranked high in aptitude tests given to high school seniors during the month of December. The work is being done under the direction of Robert Beggs, student secretary.

Attention is called to the high caliber of the faculty, the wide range of courses offered, the splendid athletic program in the "largest and best equipped college gymnasium in the middle west" and a liberal program of social life. Lawrence is described as "an institution older than the state, progressive, educationally sound, and a traditional seat of learning."

Haggling Over Class Excuses Is Only Part of Routine At College Infirmary

By Elwynne Smith
Perched high up over the Fox river, on the southwest corner of the campus, the Lawrence college infirmary offers relief to all manner of student maladies, serious and trivial, real or imaginary. From the north windows of the infirmary, a view of the campus interests patients. From the south a panoramic view of industrial Appleton may be had.

Because of a minor flu epidemic this winter, the infirmary has been unusually busy. During the month of February there were recorded a total of 1,008 infirmary calls. Of this number approximately 500 were diagnosed as influenza and gripe. This is a large increase over the number of like illnesses recorded for February of last year.

Twenty-four cases of contagious diseases from September to March was in year as compared with 14 cases last year. These figures represent all contagious diseases from athlete's foot to seven years' itch.

Increase of Cases
Last year's total of 15 emergency cases from September to March was increased this year to 19 cases during the same months. Athletic injuries serious enough to warrant an infirmary call number seven so far this year. Only one auto accident victim was treated.

Fries Gives Two of Lectures On Religion, Science

Reasons for the conflict between science and religion were discussed by Horace Fries on Tuesday and Thursday mornings over station WHBY in the first two of a series of four lectures on "Science and Religion."

The first reason why science and religion have been in opposition in some cases is that religion in the past sometimes has claimed evidence of a spiritual principle from the lack of knowledge of causes; because fundamentalism, in general, does claim this kind of evidence it is without philosophical representation today, the speaker explained.

"A scientific experiment," said Mr. Fries, "is a deliberate change of conditions about some phenomenon, while other conditions are kept as constant as possible, to determine how the change of these conditions will affect the phenomenon in question."

"The relation between the changing conditions and the changing phenomenon is called the causal relation. It is evident that if some of the constant conditions about the phenomenon were varied along with the others, then the subsequent change in the phenomenon might have been much different," he explained.

The second reason for scientific and religious opposition is over the attitude of science which must be one of willingness and readiness to change conclusion and a rejection of all authority in matters of causal relations (Continued on page 4)

ALPHA CHIS, SIG EPS LEAD AT SEMESTER

Zeta Tau Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau
Place Second; Fraternity
Grades 3 Lower

By Norman Clapp

Alpha Chi Omega and Sigma Phi Epsilon led the sororities and fraternities in scholarship last semester according to the averages given out this week by Olin A. Mead, registrar. Zeta Tau Alpha and Delta Gamma placed second and third in sorority scholarship, and Phi Kappa Tau and Delta Iota were second and third among the fraternities.

The scholastic average among the fraternities was almost .3 of one point lower than the sorority average, which was 1.629. The fraternity average was 1.360. Sigma Phi Epsilon had an average of 1.772, Phi Kappa Tau 1.379, Delta Iota 1.363, Psi Chi Omega 1.350, Beta Sigma Phi 1.340, Delta Sigma Tau 1.188, and Theta Phi 1.075.

Sorority Averages

In sorority scholarship Alpha Chi Omega led with an average of 1.852, Zeta Tau Alpha had an average of 1.795, Delta Gamma 1.780, Kappa Delta 1.588, Beta Phi Alpha 1.569, Alpha Delta Pi 1.554, Kappa Alpha Theta 1.506, and Phi Mu 1.288.

These averages are computed upon a basis of hours taken and points earned by those affiliated with the respective fraternity or sorority during the last semester. The average is found by dividing the total number of points earned by the number of hours of work taken.

Although changes made in the grading system make a comparison between the averages this past semester and those of preceding semesters impossible, the relative ranking among the fraternities and sororities has changed only slightly.

Changes This Year

For the second semester of last year the first three places in fraternity scholarship were won by the same groups that won them last semester. Sigma Phi Epsilon was first, Phi Kappa Tau was second, and Delta Iota third. Among the sororities Alpha Chi Omega led, Delta Gamma was second, and Beta Phi Alpha was third.

A comparison between the first semester of this year and the corresponding one of last year shows a great difference. The first two places in fraternity ranking went to Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Kappa Tau as they did the past semester, but third place was won by Theta Phi.

The ranking of sororities for the first semester of last year was entirely different than this year. Zeta Tau Alpha was first, Beta Phi Alpha second, and Kappa Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Phi Mu were tied for third.

THE NEW NOMINATING PLAN

Working toward a stronger student government than is at present operating on the Lawrence campus, the Student Senate is considering the advisability of revamping the present system of nominating candidates to student offices.

A committee appointed by the senate conducted an investigation of the problem, surveyed methods employed at several colleges and universities in the middle west, and submitted a plan which calls for the nomination of four candidates to each office by the senate acting as a nominating committee with the elimination of nominations from the floor.

Another feature of the plan is that all organizations on the campus, fraternities, sororities, and non-Greek groups, be asked to submit recommendations to the nominating committee.

Taking the plan as a whole, it would mean the elimination of the caucus, an institution which has long been a thorn in the side of the election system here.

The proposed plan has one defect, however, and that is the elimination of the right to nominate from the floor after nominations have been made by the committee. We see a real advance in the plan as a whole with this one exception.

Admitting that the Student Senate acts as representative of the entire student body and will undoubtedly execute the duties of a nominating committee in a worthy manner, any plan that leans toward a monarchy here is self-destructive.

NEW FOOTBALL RULES

The new football rules promulgated recently indicate that the rules committee has given its best thought to the problem of making the game safer without robbing it of its distinctive features. It will take a couple of playing seasons to show whether the committee has actually succeeded; meanwhile, it is evident that these changes would never have been necessary if the proper spirit had always been observed in the playing of the game.

The urge to win at all costs, apparently, has been largely responsible for many of the injuries which have given football such a black mark.

Rules depriving linemen of the right to use the rabbit punch, and prohibiting players from "piling up" on a ball carrier would not have been necessary if coaches had uniformly taught their men to play the game as sportsmen. The fact that these changes were needed is a direct reflection on the coaches as a group.

World News in Brief

In reply to the request of J. H. Thomas, British secretary for dominions, that definite information be given regarding the intentions of the new Irish government of President de Valera, John W. Dulanty, high commissioner of the Irish Free State in London, Tuesday insisted that the free state has the right to modify its constitution by removal of the oath of allegiance to the king. Mr. Dulanty gave three reasons why this amendment should be made: First, the oath is not mandatory in the treaty; second, the constitution being the people's constitution, anything affecting it is purely a matter to be determined without external pressure; and third, since abolition of the oath was the main issue of the election, it is the duty of De Valera's government to fulfill this promise.

At this crisis between Ireland and Great Britain, the payment of the $450,000,000 advanced by the British government to aid Irish farmers in buying land from landlords becomes a point of intense controversy. Ex-President Cosgrave made an agreement to collect payments in the form of land annuities which have been turned over to the British government to the amount of $170,000,000 thus far. President De Valera, however, maintains that these annuities are part of the public debt of the United Kingdom of which Ireland was relieved by the treaty of 1921 and that Cosgrave's settlement was illegal.

The Century Air Lines, operating nine months in 1931, carried 56,000 passengers and flew more than 2,000,000 miles, officials announced Tuesday.

Believers Find Joy In Expression of Faith At Easter Sunday Service

By John Frampton

"Then you agree with Spinoza that it would be as absurd to say of God that He is just or unjust as to say, 'God is blue or square?'"

The other takes from his mouth a cold pipe which has gone out during a heated discussion.

"Yes, and furthermore anyone who says that belief and worship are prerequisites to salvation is just another kind of anthropomorphotheist who believes God takes the attitude, 'Tickle me, Toby, and I'll tickle thee!'"

"Your irreverence shocks me!"

"Not any more than your unconscious irreverence amuses me. You assume that God is receptive to adoration but disregards evil, for you believe God is omniscient, and yet no one is more conscious than you of the frightful amount of sin in the world. Thus unless you are Machiavellian enough to waive sin as a means justified by some divine end—a view which is the antithesis of idealism—you had better stay clear of Epicurus' four-horned dilemma:

"Either God wants to prevent evil, and cannot do it; or he can do it and does not want to; or he neither wishes to nor can do it; or he wishes to and can do it." If the last is true, then no evil exists, a conclusion which is somewhat damaging to morals."

"Hmmm . . . That does sound unanswerable." His opponent seems puzzled, then brightens. "Suppose we accept the last. Then there is no evil; whatever is, is right, including belief in a personal God and salvation; and we shall escape going to bed atheists. Remember we have to get up in time for the Easter morning Sunrise service."

"Oh, but even if I don't go to bed an infidel, I am always an atheist and a pagan at six o'clock in the morning."

As they curl up inside icy blankets in a fraternity attic, the skeptic's last words are, "I might get up at 6:30 to see a fire, but for a church service, never!"

A brutal shake awakens him next morning while the attic is still in semi-darkness.

"Quick, if you want to see a fire! Put on your bathrobe and come over here a minute."

Shivering, they crouch by the great open window and look out across the housetops. The defender of the faith points while the atheist blinks and rubs his eyes.

Atheist Speaks

There is fresh air, concentrated, intoxicating, at the window, but beyond only a void crystal clearness in which mill chimneys stand like altar candles, their smoke reaching straight to heaven. Just at the tip of one red glowing stack is perched the scarlet sun, a globe of fire from which the smoke rises in a mere thread of black, gradually broadening and softening until it merges into the gray above. They stare silently, then the atheist speaks: "It's great to be living on a morning like this, isn't it? Gives you a worshipful feeling . . ." His face glows in the red light as he smiles with a kind of amused contentment. "Is it too late for that sunrise service?"

"By no means! The sun begins to rise about six o'clock nowadays; it must be six-thirty now; and the service isn't until seven-thirty."

"Won't it be great to sit in the candle-lighted chapel, to see the palms and flowers, to hear the organ and to listen to President Wriston's Easter morning greeting? . . ."

We got to digging around in the library, which is a great place to dig when in search of knowledge, and there in the back of one much-read volume, besmirching the whole page in a most ungentlemanly way, was an announcement to the effect that the mug who wrote Spasms was a conceited so-and-so. The big laugh came when we took a glance at the signature of the perpetrator of the foul deed. To be called conceited does not bother the mug who writes Spasms one little bit, but to be called that by the bunch who scrawled the announcement in the libel book becomes comic. Anyone would look conceited stacked up against that outfit. 'nuff said!

There was once a famous thinker who declared that dreams were the fulfillment of desires. While gazing at the typewriter just now we pictured a joyous Lawrence student body coming back from Carroll with a flag emblematic of basketball supremacy. That desire has been squelched for so many years that it has become practically dead, and it's about time that some dreams got going and fulfilled that wild, hopeless, and fantastic yearning for a Big Four crown. Maybe if we could get the whole Lawrence student body asleep it wouldn't be such a bad world after all. Who knows?

Wouldn't it be a catastrophe if a few mechanical-minded girls at Sage started that "burglar" alarm ringing from the inside? It's all so simple, and first floor is so far from third that even the slowest individual could be asleep before things started to happen. In the event that such a thing happened, which is very unlikely, there will probably be a course offered training the folks in charge of the dorm to get from first to third in the flash of an eye. How about it, Iggle Eye, can you imagine certain persons tearing up and down stairs all night trying to catch the "burglars"?

One of the most remarkable handball records in years, and one which is likely to stand for a good many seasons, is being hung up by the Sig Ep squad in the Greek court scramble. The College Avenue men have beaten the Betas 5 to 0, the D. I.'s 5 to 0, the Theta Phis 5 to 0, and the Psi Chis 5 to 0. That makes four straight matches, 20 straight sets, and 40 games won out of 41 played for the year. The two toughest matches on schedule remain to be played against the Phi Taus and Delta Sigs, and handball enthusiasts are watching them with unusual interest.

"The paths of glory lead but to the grave."

VARSITY MEN HOPE TO SET NEW RECORDS

Frosh and Institute Tracksters
Are Strong In Dashes;
Add New Events

Another Varsity, Frosh, Paper Institute, track meet will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 p.m., at the new Alexander gymnasium. The meet, originally carded for Thursday night, was postponed because of the Frosh-Manawa basketball game.

The meet will probably be held indoors, and with the additional experience of last week's meet, more records are expected to be broken. Foote, Schier, and Kukolick broke the varsity records in the high jump, pole vault, and shot put events, respectively, in last week's Varsity, Frosh-Institute meet, while the addition of the high hurdles, 440 yd. dash, mile run, and broad jump event is hoped to uncover more talent.

The added events will increase the number of contestants, although at this time it is impossible to state the exact list of entries.

Varsity Weak in Dashes

To date, the varsity have shown little strength in the dashes, although they may improve in the longer, outdoor sprints. Irwin, paper institute student, and Dobbs, varsity sprinter, will probably be the first two to the tape in the 25 yd. dash, while High, frosh, should win the 50 yd. sprint.

Schier, varsity, is the likely winner in the pole vault, while first place in the high jump will be between two varsity men, Foote and Marston.

The low hurdles should prove an interesting race. In the last meet, Vander Bloemen nosed out Marston, who was one of the last season's most consistent winners in that event. Both will represent the varsity. Kukolick, paper chemistry student, will probably take a first place in the shot put event, while Roemer, varsity, must beat a trio of fast freshmen to win the 880 yd. run.

The varsity may have trouble in beating the frosh to the tape in the mile event. Sheldon and Reeve are the only two entered in the 440 yd. dash to date, while Fuchs is the sole entry in the broad jump. No one has as yet entered the high hurdles, though Marston, Vander Bloemen, and several freshmen are expected to sign.

Entertain 30 Town Girls at Ormsby Cellar Party

Thirty freshman town girls were entertained by the freshman girls of Ormsby hall Monday evening at a "Cellar Cafe party." A cafe atmosphere was created and later in the evening a program consisting of blue songs by Gladys Schaeffer, '34, a tap dance by Florence Marcell, '35, and an apache dance by Polly Neenan and Fern Johnson, both '34, was given.

Margaret King, '35, and Betty Bradley, '35, were in charge of arrangements.

Women's Cage Tournament To Be Decided Wednesday

Championship of the women's basketball tournament rests between the sophomore and junior teams. Thus far both of them have defeated the senior and freshman women and two games remain to be played.

In Monday's games, the sophomores with their last year's combination of Jahn and Wilson easily defeated the senior team by a score of 38 to 23. In the second game of the evening the juniors with their combination of Fox, Beck, and Snyder crushed the freshmen by the overwhelming score of 58 to 20.

Tuesday evening wins were repeated by the sophomore and junior teams, the sophs defeating the frosh 41 to 16, and the juniors defeating the seniors 38 to 20.

Thus far Helen Snyder and Elizabeth Fox of the junior team are high scorers, with Dorothy Jahn, sophomore, Ruth Hess, freshman, and Joyce Nienstedt, senior, holding respectively third, fourth and fifth places in individual points.

The last two games of the tournament will be played Thursday night. Friday evening at Sage the annual basketball dinner will be held at which time the varsity will be announced.

Denney Issues Call for More Men in Track Events that the Albion squad was sick and that frosh, are working out daily in the new Alexander gymnasium, but Coach Denney states that more men are needed in the quarter, half, mile, and two mile events.

Last year Lawrence lost the Big Four crown to Carroll at the conference meet at Ripon. This year the meet will be held here at Whiting field. Coach Denney wishes to represent Lawrence with a strong team; men must be found to replace Edwards, Anson, Elizondo, Nelson, and others.

Forty track men, including varsity and who are not in school this year, if Lawrence is to take the championship.

Coach Denney declared that there are good men in school who are not out for the squad, and who with a bit of effort could earn a letter this spring provided they came out and trained properly. Track practice is held every afternoon at 4 o'clock and those interested in working out with the squad should report to Coach Denney this afternoon.

Delta Sigma Tau entertained Drs. E. C. Moore and William Raney, and Chester Huele at dinner Thursday evening.

Four Lettermen Are Nucleus of Tennis Squad; Call First Meeting of Aspirants

With four lettermen as a nucleus for a strong tennis squad, Coach F. W. Clippinger called the first meeting of net aspirants last week and suggested an indoor practice schedule until the campus courts are playable.

Strange, Best, Negrescu, and Tams have been working out on the indoor court at Alexander gym all winter, and expect to be in top shape for the opening engagement on the Viking schedule. Strange, always a consistent winner in past years, is expected to hold down the number one post which was vacated when Chuck Barnes graduated last year. The rest of the positions are a tossup between some nine or ten promising candidates, and a great battle is expected before final team selections are made.

Need Doubles Combination

The big problem at present is a doubles combination, which was blown sky-high by the graduation of Bud Pierce and Neal Klausner from last year's strong squad. Strange and Hunt loom as a possibility for two-man play, although they have had no experience working together. Tink, lanky sophomore whose serves carried him to the finals of the indoor tourney last year, is looked up on as a likely singles prospect, and may work with Best in doubles play.

Other members of last year's squad who are expected to vie for positions on the 1932 team are: Marshall Wiley, Henry Connor, Kenneth Johnson, Wally Borgan, Don Ballard, Bert Hall, and Phil Sunnes.

Six Are Elected To Scholarship Fraternity

ly six thousand at the present time, centers around scholarship, character, and a sense of cooperation.

Twenty-three members of the faculty and two members of the business staff of Lawrence college have Phi Beta Kappa keys. Gamma chapter of Lawrence college was founded in 1914, and Miss Charlotte Lorenz, professor of Spanish, is president of the local chapter.

Nine Cagers Are Awarded Letters; Hall Made Captain

This year the freshman team was coached by Hayward Biggers, captain of the blue and white quintet last year. Only two defeats for the frosh team, one by Carroll frosh and the other by Kaukauna high school, were met with all season.

No future captain will be elected until the next basketball season, according to Coach Denney, who followed the practice this year of appointing a cage leader before each game.

Hall Elected Captain

Bert Hall, the only player on the squad to graduate other than Vander Bloemen, was chosen honorary captain for the 1931-32 season in a petition signed by the present letter men and presented to Coach Denney.

Another ruling passed by the athletic board was that all men winning their first major sport award will receive blue sweaters regardless of the sport. This will do away with the present system which awards white sweaters for football and track and blue sweaters for basketball. The future honor sweaters may be either white or blue, according to the athlete's own choice.

Basketball receipts were above the estimated expenditures so that there will be no curtailment of the spring sports, golf, tennis, and track, other than was decided upon last fall by the athletic board.

Phi Taus In Second Place

Handball Team Trims Theta Phis
Yesterday; Psi Chis Lose
Pair of Matches

Taking four out of five games in the match with the Theta Phis Thursday afternoon, the Phi Tau handball team moved into second place in the interfraternity handball standings.

In the games yesterday Sunnes and Brown won over Peters and Schommish in the doubles match, Poppe defeated Roeck, Kemper upset R. Colburn, and Hall turned back Gmeiner for the Phi Tau victories, and Schommish defeated Sunnes for the only Theta win.

In the weekend games the Sig Eps continued their winning streak by taking the measure of the Psi Chis, five straight games, and the Phi Taus likewise took the Psi Chis into camp.

The Sig Eps won their match in five straight games, Spanagel forfeiting to Best. Other members of the Sigmas were Tink, Coffey, and Bradley, with Campbell and Best in the doubles. Ballard, Feind, and Alpaugh faced them in the order named, with Johnson and Feind in the doubles.

Wednesday afternoon, the Phi Taus cinched victory in the first three games. Sunnes defeated Ballard, Hall won from Feind, and Kemper beat Alpaugh; Poppe and Spanagel did not play. Poppe and Nemacheck lost to Johnson and Feind in the doubles.

Women Debaters To Meet Albion At Clintonville

Maxine Fraser, '32, and Helen Snyder, '33, members of the Lawrence women's affirmative debate team, will debate a negative squad of Albion college, Michigan, before the Clintonville Rotary club, Monday evening, March 28. Four members of the Albion negative squad will be guests of Lawrence women debaters Monday.

Maxine Fraser and Helen Snyder returned yesterday from a trip to Chicago where they debated the negative team of North Central college, on the question: "Resolved that the United States should participate in a cancellation of all intergovernmental war debts including reparations."

When a Lady Loses Her Moustache—That's News

Madison, Wis., March 24—No dignified, respectable lady would be seen with a moustache, especially on the stage. So, Holley J. Smith, Cleveland, Ohio, will have to cut off his moustache April 3.

The next day, he will leave with the Haresfoot club, University of Wisconsin dramatic organization, on its two week tour of the northwest, as a featured dancer in "Lucky Breaks," the club's newest musical revue. The revue plays at the Brin Theatre, Menasha, April 12.

This will be Smith's third year as a member of a Haresfoot production. Incidentally Smith dances to many of the tunes for which he has composed the lyrics, and appears in many of the skits he himself has written. He is editor of the University humor magazine, "The Octopus."

Haggling Over Excuses Is Part of Work At Infirmary

greet you with a cheery "Good morning," as you enter the office.

"Contact with students that are young and human, knowing their individual differences, and helping them when they are sick, gives the infirmary staff an accurate insight into the real character of Lawrence students," she says.

Use Novel Schemes

"Of course, there is always the unavoidable haggling over class excuses. We can't always grant excuses to students with colds or headaches. Various schemes have been concocted by students to get out of taking exams for which they are unprepared. A red throat is sometimes "created" as proof of a sore throat by smoking many cigarettes in the cold air. One freshman made himself sick by eating a cube of incense.

"As a rule, though, students do not come here unless they have something definitely wrong with them. I have noticed that the longer they are in school the less they come here for class excuses for trivial ailments such as headaches or sore eyes," concluded the nurse.

MacHarg Completes Radio Talks On Life, Biographies of Abraham Lincoln

Lincoln the man, in his home and as president, and Lincoln literature were discussed by Dr. John B. MacHarg, professor of American history, in the last of his series of radio talks on Lincoln, Wednesday morning over station WHBY.

Merits and demerits of the various biographies of Lincoln by Beveridge, Sandburg, Tarbell, Charnwood, and others were pointed out by Dr. MacHarg. But he said, "so far as bibliography is concerned, above all things go to him, and read his writings."

Lincoln, according to Dr. MacHarg, had much less to begin with than most of us, yet he learned how to climb. "Of course, events and circumstances, over which he had little or no control, molded his life, but he used his world and on it rose to high and merited renown," he explained.

"Abraham was incredibly modest and unassuming; he promised his old partner to come back and go right on practicing law if he lived; he roped and addressed his own trunks when he was getting ready to leave for Washington," Dr. MacHarg pointed out.

Lincoln had a difficult wife, but according to Dr. MacHarg, she seems to have been just what he needed to make him what he became. "Tad Lincoln's Father," by Julia Taft Bayne, he recommended as a clear and reliable picture of the home life of the Lincolns, which he said, "is important as the background for the more momentous affairs of State. Lincoln was a very human human being and a captivating man."

Lincoln possessed the greatest human virtues. "He was brave; he was so far as I know, fearless. Unselfishness seems to me his most conspicuous virtue. If ever a man, who must of necessity command, showed true humility of spirit, it was Lincoln," Dr. MacHarg concluded.

Dr. Trever Talks On Sino-Japanese Problem Over Air

The background, reason for invasion, and first steps in the conflict of the Japanese-Manchurian situation were discussed by Dr. Albert A. Trever, professor of ancient and European history, over station WHBY, Tuesday, March 15.

In speaking on the background of the situation, Dr. Trever discussed the population problem, past treaties, Japan's demands upon China during the World War, the economic situation at the time, and conflicts regarding the railroads.

"Chinese government in Manchuria was weak and thus banditry was ripe, endangering the property and lives of Japanese nationals," according to the speaker. This was one of the reasons for invasion quoted by Japan. "A second excuse," said Dr. Trever, "was that China was not living up to her treaties regarding railroads."

In regard to actual invasion Dr. Trever followed the actual course of events concerning the situation from Sept. 18, 1931, to the present time. He closed by explaining the Japanese answers and lack of protests made by other nations.

Fries Gives Talk On Religion, Science Over Air

except the authority of experience, according to the speaker.

The third reason for the religious and scientific conflict is that science has been the aggressor. "It is the attempt on the part of the sciences of psychology and ethnology to extend the knowledge of causal relations to the realm of religious beliefs and experiences," Mr. Fries said.
